Scenography Expanding Symposia

Riga – Belgrade - Évora 2010

Throughout the past decade, scenographic practice and performance design have continuously moved beyond the black box of the theatre toward a hybrid terrain located at the intersection of theatre, architecture, exhibition, visual arts, and media. This terrain and its spaces are constructed from action and interaction. They are defined by individual and group behaviour, and are contrasted by distinct behavioural patterns.

It is proposed here that spaces that are staged in such a way – spaces that are at the same time hybrid, mediated, narrative, and transformative – result from a transdisciplinary understanding of space and a distinct awareness of social agency. These two factors of “expansion” are seen as the central driving forces in contemporary scenographic practice and thought.

With the aim of initiating and hosting an active and transdisciplinary discourse on the notion of an expanded scenography, the Prague Quadrennial for Performance Design and Space issues an invitation for participation and a Call for Papers for the symposia and workshop sessions, Scenography Expanding 1-3 in 2010. Grouped under the overriding and programmatic title of Scenography Expanding, invited academic papers, artist’s presentations and expert workshop sessions will be looking to engage with notions of spectatorship, artists/authors, and curating in relation to the diverse artistic positions in contemporary spatial design.

In preparation for the Intersection Project of the Prague Quadrennial in June, 2011, we invite researchers in practice and theory (artists, curators, programers, directors, dramaturgs, critics, and theorists) to participate in 3 international scenography symposia held in Riga, Belgrade and Évora during 2010.

Scenography Expanding 1-3 will be followed up by a peer-reviewed publication.

Scenography Expanding 3: On Artists / Authors

July 8-10, 2010

Military Museum, Kalemegdan Fortress of Belgrade

Belgrade, Serbia

In the second preparatory symposium before the June 2011 Prague Quadrennial for Performance Design and Space (PQ), artists and researchers from the performing arts, visual arts and spatial design disciplines are invited to enter into a transdisciplinary dialogue on the role of the artist as the author of scenographic space.

The symposium comprises an impressive range of international speakers and aims to engage practitioners and researchers in discussing practice-as-research in relationship to the staging of spaces. Beyond a genrespecific discourse, On Artists / Authors will investigate diverse practices of scenographic research, focusing on individual authorship, collaborative and site-specific projects, curatorial concepts and exhibition practice.
